Meet the Experts

Tia Kim, PhD
Vice President of Education, Research, and Impact

Tia Kim leads Committee for Children (CFC)'s team of research scientists working to develop and evaluate the quality, effectiveness, and impact of the organization's programs. She also helped develop the Second Step Child Protection Unit (CPU), collaborating with experts across the field to create the CPU Family Videos. Tia is a driving force behind CFC's efforts to continually gather information about implementation fidelity, advance the evaluation process, focus on continuous improvement and learning, and promote partnerships, all in pursuit of making a greater positive impact on kids.

Tia's LinkedIn profile

Bridgid Normand, MEd
Special Advisor to Learning and Impact

Bridgid Normand served as lead developer for Committee for Children's Second Step Child Protection Unit and advises the organization's researchers and developers in creating CFC's research-based programs, drawing upon her deep understanding of educational products and unparalleled institutional knowledge.

Bridgid's LinkedIn profile

Media Contacts
Jordana Ehling
jehling@cfchildren.org
206-438-6378

M'Bilia Meekers
mmeekers@cfchildren.org
206-438-6541

Our experts are available to discuss:

- Ways for parents and caregivers to navigate personal discomfort around talking about child sexual abuse prevention with their kids
- Advice for parents and caregivers for preventing child sexual abuse
- Advice for parents and caregivers if a child discloses abuse
- The difference between a conversation about child sexual abuse prevention and having "The Talk" about sex
- The prevalence and long-term negative effects of child sexual abuse
- The demographics of victims and perpetrators
- The connection between social-emotional learning (SEL) and child sexual abuse
- Societal stigma around talking about child sexual abuse